New England Mutual Life Ins.,
Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843,
Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide perfect security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The directors are required to be peculiarly interested in the company, and they give it their personal attention; and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of its duties. Insurance may be effected for the benefit of the wife, which is secured to her by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

The undersigned has been duly appointed Agent of the above named companies, and is now prepared to take risks and issue policies upon all kinds of insurable property at the lowest rates for the year, at lower rates than most other responsible companies. All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by LUTHER TRENT ALONE.

Farmers, look to your own interest, and insure in a Farmers' Company.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have been obliged to answer our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers), household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years at lower rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no losses other than your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fires that occur are upon stores, taverns, mills, shops and such like property. In this company all such property is rejected positively, by LEVY REEM ALONE.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last four years we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

TUESDAY MORNING, AUG. 29, 1854.

SPIRITUALISM "CULMINATING."—Our contemporaries of the Beloit Journal and Grant County Herald have been recently earnestly engaged in discussing the propriety of the use of the word "culminating" in the preamble of the resolutions of the Madison convention. The discussion has been of too learned a character for us to fully fathom, but on the supposition that the newly graduating editor of the Journal is good authority in matters of philological research, we design to apply the term to the latest development of the "spiritual" theory of these latter days. We thought when, not very long since, we found the "spirits" presenting hands, toes, and other parts of the material body, to the touch and sight of their auditors, the science had "culminated" beyond any question or dispute; but this manifestation seems to have been only a step in the ladder which these visitors from another world are climbing to reach the top and fall over on the other side. If the following has not reached the "culminating" point; we confess our total inability to understand when that controverted position can be attained.

The New Era, a spiritual paper, publishes an article about what is called the "Electrical Motor," or "New Saviour." The Era speaks of its deep satisfaction that the world is, by and by, to be blessed beyond conception by this physical Saviour, through whose instrumentality a permanent material basis shall be laid for true spiritual salvation.

The new "Saviour" is a machine which has been constructed at Lynn, Mass., by the spiritualists, which they claim to be semi-mechanical and semi-human. It has been denominated a "new motive power, and cost $2,000 to construct it. The New Era remarks that the Electric Motor is an exact correspondence of the human body, at least as far as involuntary motion is concerned. It was constructed under spirit direction, and chiefly at Spear's expense. This done, the next thing was to put life in it, which brings us to the most extraordinary part of the business.

The story is that Mrs. — became informed some months since, by spiritual intelligence, that she would become a mother in a new sense — "the Mary of a new dispensation." This announcement, though made in a very impressive manner, was not believed by those who heard it. Nobody suspected it had any reference to the machine on High Rock, Mrs. — had previously experienced sensations analogous to those attendant upon gestation; by and by came a message, through Spear, that she must visit High Rock. While there she experienced the peculiar sensations of parturition—"differing somewhat from the ordinary experience, inasmuch as the throes were internal and of the spirit, rather than of the physical nature; but nevertheless quite as uncontrollable and not less severe than those pertaining to the latter. This extraordinary physiological phenomenon continued for about the space of two hours. Its purpose and results were wholly incomprehensible to all but herself; but her own perception is clear and distinct, that in these agonizing throes the most interior and refined elements of her spiritual being were imparted to, and absorbed by the appropriate portions of the mechanism—its minerals having been made peculiarly receptive by previous chemical processes."

This ought to be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical, but the new "motor" (mother?) has thus far only commenced its mission of "reform" and "progress." Nature is not merely to be supplanted in the nature of a new and improved race of human beings, but is also to be relieved of the duties incidental to the nourishment and growth of the new stock. It is gravely asserted that this wonderful machine (we beg pardon for using so gross and material a term to designate the "motor," but really our knowledge of spiritual nomenclature is insufficient to properly designate it,) immediately began to have life and pulsation, which increased under a process precisely analogous to that of nursing. Angelic communications were of course given to the favored matron-medium, to explain all these mysteries, though the ultimate design was not imparted, but she, contrary to all commonly received ideas of feminine nature, refused to tell what was told her. This omission, however, is in part supplied by a later revelation to another favored mortal; in this case, the information being made to one of that portion of the species whose agency has heretofore been essential to the propagation of the race. The New Era, of July 5th, chronicles a vision had by a Mr. J. Wolcott. To his view it was revealed that the machine appeared to grow in size, and "threw off from itself small machines after its own pattern," and those "in turn threw off a multitude of other little ones." The further "progress" of the "motor" is thus reported:

"Next there appeared a movement among the machines, and the larger ones, which were now fully developed, moved away over the plain into the distance. In their path stood a great number of churches, of every size and variety, from the diminutive Methodist chapel up to the stately Gothic minister and St. Paul's cathedral. But the machines did not turn out of their course at all, running over and through those temples, completely demolishing them to heaps of worthless rubbish."

If this is not spiritualism "culminating," will our friend of the Grant County Herald help us to the right word?

We might ask what is to become of doctors and ministers when this prolific machine is fully in operation, and if the new progeny are to possess material appetites where the food is coming from to supply so many new mouths; but we fear we should be accused of an impertinent curiosity if not subjected to a desolating visit of the migratory spirits.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The recent contract taken by Messrs. Hume & Stevens for building the bridge upon the plan furnished from Milwaukee. The amount, we hear, is $5,700, which completes the structure, the city paying, in addition, for the work already done.

The Milwaukee Sentinel makes the following reply to our paragraph about the want of cars to carry the freight from the depot here:

Some difficulty has occurred here, but it was owing to the fact that a large train was detained at Madison by the sunken track. That difficulty is cured now, and we think that new cars will be furnished from the factory at Waukesha as fast as they are wanted. There are now about 200 on the road. If it comes to a necessity, we presume the use of 30 cars belonging to the Watertown company, could be obtained for a time. They are now upon the track.

MR. C. C. DENNIS, the superintendent of the Buffalo and State Line railroad, was found guilty of kidnapping an Erie jury. The charge arose from the late riot at Harbor Creek during the Erie railroad disturbance. When the mob endeavored to lynch Dennis, the cars were put in motion to protect him, and a Harbor Creek man named Cooper, who was on the train, was carried into New York state.

WILD RICE.—The Crawfish river, which enters the Rock at this point, grows an abundance of wild rice, which the Indians, formerly gathered for food. It is now growing rapidly, and is eagerly sought by cattle, who will stand in the water eating it for hours, and in the fall it attracts myriads of wild ducks, which grow very fat on it, and seldom leave it until the river is frozen over. It grows very rank, and the berry, which is quite dark colored, was much esteemed by the natives.—Jeffersonian.

A man was yesterday fined $25 and costs, in the mayor's court, for impertinence to a lady, in the street. It consisted in some taunts and jeers, having their origin in a family difficulty. The court held that such things were not gentlemanly.—Detroit Tribune.

TOUCHING GRATITUDE.—A poor Irish woman applied, a few days since, for relief to our well-known citizen, Mr. Longworth, who in compliance with her urgent appeals, finally handed her a dime. Sinking to her knees, she devoutly thanked God, and then turning to Mr. Longworth, continued, "and when in another world I see you in torment, I will remember your kindness, and give you a cup of cold water for this what you have done for me." Mr. Longworth felt more obliged for her good intentions than complimented by her anticipations of his state in futurity.—Cin. Columbian.

CHILD BITTEN BY A RAT.—On Thursday night a little son of Mr. S. S. Myers, of Flatbush, felt something creeping upon his bed, which he brushed off, supposing it to be a cat. This he repeated several times, being only half awake, but falling sound asleep he was suddenly awakened by the bite of a rat, in the centre of his forehead. He arose with his face covered with blood, and succeeded in destroying his assailant. The lad was only nine years old.

THE HEALTH OF DUBUQUE.—Was never better than at this time; all traces of the cholera seem to have disappeared, the weather for the past ten days having been eminently salubrious, cool and pleasant. And yet we are told that one of the St. Paul papers reports lots of cholera here, why is this, there is not, nor has been, one case in this city for several days.—Tribune.

OPINION OF THE BINDERS.—The undersigned who were engaged in binding the grain cut by Atkins' and Manny's reapers, upon the trial had on the land of David Stockwell, certify that they bound all the grain cut in said fields, and that the grain cut by Atkins' reaper was laid in a more convenient form for binding and requiring much less labor to bind than the grain cut by Manny's reaper.

The gavel as laid by the self-raker were much more uniform, and laid in a better position—they wasted less in handling—could be handled and bound with far less labor and expense of time. In fact we are confident from our own experience at that time, that four hands binding after Atkins' self-raker can do as much work as five binding after Manny's.

The difference in the number of bundles in the field as cut by the two reapers, and as stated in Mr. Manny's circular, is easily accounted for, from the fact that the gavel after the self-raker were delivered so compact that we uniformly bound two of them into one bundle, and thus the bundles contained much more straw and grain than those bound after Manny's reaper. We would state in addition that the grain from Manny's reaper was delivered in so irregular galleys, the butts and heads lying every way, that it was impossible to bind them firmly and uniformly, and thus a very considerable waste occurred in handling the bundles, from the shelling and loss of grain. The same difficulty, from the same cause existed in the stacking, it being impossible, from the irregular laying of the grain to stack the same securely.

DAVID STOCKWELL,
J. M. STOCKWELL,
H. G. ANDREWS,
D. M. PATRICK,
DANIEL ALLEN.

The undersigned, binders on the field of John Stockham, and who bound after each machine, concur in the above certificate, and state that the same results in our observation prevailed, as to the style of delivery of the grain, and the labor and expense of binding, as well as the loss in handling and stacking in the grain of Mr. Stockham, that existed as above stated in Mr. Stockwell's grain.

DANIEL ALLEN.
Belvidere, Aug. 10th, 1854.

MOTIVES OF EMIGRATION.—A lawyer from a railroad town in the country, after reading our remarks of Saturday last on the naturalization question, confirmed from his own experience the truth of the statement that European emigration is not influenced to our shores by the privilege of citizenship. He states that he has had numerous applications, professionally, from Irishmen inclined to acquire the right of suffrage. In three-fourths of these cases the object was abandoned, and that finally on learning that an incidental expense of three or four dollars was attached to the "priceless boon." It is a fact well known to those conversant with these matters that the most inconsiderable number of Irish emigrants become naturalized, unless through the officious intervention of political agents, who thus purchase their votes. Our naturalization system is in practice but a machine for manufacturing voters to order for the exigencies of an election. In the residence of our legal friend above alluded to, and in other places where the court sits after instead of before the election, we are assured that very few foreigners are ever naturalized.—New York Courier.

CHEAPER PAPER.—The New Orleans Bulletin says: "We are inclined to believe that the okra plant of the south is destined to alleviate the grievous evil under which all paperhangers labor. We have seen specimens of strong, white rope manufactured from its fibre. If it will make rope it will certainly make paper, and if it will make paper, the present exorbitant prices must come down materially, for the supply of raw material will be as inexhaustible as cheap. If the Bulletin is correct in the opinion that the okra plant will furnish an article suitable for the manufacture of paper, it is hardly possible to overestimate the importance of the discovery. The Bulletin speaks of the okra as if it was exclusively of southern growth, and it is true that it is only generally cultivated in that region. But it is a hardy plant, and can be grown in perfection on Long Island. Besides, it is a capital article of food; and if it was profitable to cultivate it for the purpose indicated by the Bulletin, we should see it generally introduced as an ingredient in soups, &c.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

C. C. WASHBURN.—We learn that a large number of the leading republicans of Rock county, Wis., (in Eastman's district,) have recently made a call on C. C. Washburn, esq., of Mineral Point, to become the republican anti-Nebraska candidate for congress in that district at the approaching election. If four friends in that district want an honorable, true and substantial man in congress as their agent, who is not afraid to take his stand on right measures, and see that "justice be done, though the heavens fall," and represent their wants as though they were his own, let them elect C. C. Washburn to the above office, and they will have just such a man. He is right on the vital question of the day, and his election would do honor to Wisconsin.—Galena Gazette.

The remnant of the hull of the steamer Erie, burned thirteen years ago, has been raised and towed into Buffalo harbor. The Buffalo Republic says:

The engine and valuable found on board had been previously removed. She is the hardest looking wreck we ever saw and can be of no use, unless it be for the iron that holds her together. Rumor says that some $1,500 in silver coin was found, besides a large quantity of gold, silver and copper in a melted state.

BROKE HIS NECK.—A young man going home from a party in Rochester, on Thursday evening last, was overtaken by a wagon filled with young people who invited him to take a ride with them, and as he mounted the wagon at the back end the horses started suddenly and threw him out.

In falling he struck his head upon the solid road and broke his neck. His age was about sixteen years. We did not learn his name.—Racine Advocate.

COMMENDABLE COURTESY.—We are gratified to be able to record an instance of magnanimity, growing out of the late fire. Our Lilliputian friend, Gen. Gifford, having learned that Geo. H. Walker had been so unfortunate as to lose most of his clothes in the United States Hotel, with his usual polite consideration, addressed the colossal colonel a note, kindly tendering the use of his wardrobe. The proffered favor was duly appreciated, but "circumstances" or rather "inconveniences," prevented its acceptance.—Mil. News.

MONSIEUR TONSON ONCE MORE.—That universal acquaintance of good-natured hotel-keepers and money-lenders, Col. J. Abbot, is cutting a wide swath down in Maine, as an administration democrat. He attends most of the conventions, and makes great speeches. The Portland Advertiser, which evidently has no appreciation of true eloquence, says of one of these efforts, that "it combined the eloquence of a fish-wife, with the gesticulation of a jumping jack."

ACCIDENTS IN MILWAUKEE.—On the day of the fire, a young man in Nazro's employ was very seriously injured by the falling of an anvil upon him. Another young man in the same employ was attacked with the cholera from over exertion and his life was despaired of. S. B. Davis, esq., of the firm of Davis & Moore, was knocked down by a hook and ladder company, and badly hurt—although we hope not fatally. Another young man by the name of Stone was sun-struck and fell down where he was at work upon the roof, he was taken up and was recovering at last accounts. A great many were taken up and committed to jail for stealing. There were a large number drunk, and some tall club fighting came off, which would astonish denizens of any other city. It was a hard day for Milwaukee, and we hope none of their brave firemen or other citizens will suffer from sickness by over exertion.—Racine Advocate.

RESISTANCE TO LAW.—We have no sympathy with those who threaten to resist the execution of the laws; whether it be the fugitive slave law or the Maine liquor law. While any law remains upon the statute book, its provisions must be obeyed. We do not mean the citizen is under any obligation to volunteer his services to carry it into effect; but that he cannot be justified in offering open resistance to the law, and the officers who are bound to execute it. The citizen has a right to stand aside, and let those whose business it is to execute the law, do their duty as best they may, without rendering any assistance. Nor has the officer any right to command the assistance of the citizen, unless he is present when there is actual violence or a breach of the peace. The citizen is under legal obligation to obey the mandate of the officer, only when resistance is offered. But as such cases would not occur in a thousand lifetimes, no man need give himself any particular uneasiness as to his duty in such particular cases.

We are in favor of resisting bad laws, but our mode of resistance is a peaceable one.

We would fight our battles at the ballot box, with missiles both peaceable and potent. Our institutions are based on public sentiment, and whatever the public will, they can justly secure, if they proceed in a legal, constitutional way. We hear much said about resisting the fugitive slave law. Many of its provisions are justly odious, and ought to be modified; and these can be obtained without commotion and bloodshed. Let the people go to the polls and elect those who are in favor of a change, and the electing would be at once attained. Instead of resisting the law in Court street or State street, it should be done at the places of public meeting. Instead of employing revolvers and dirks, all that is necessary is small pieces of paper with the proper inscription thereon.

The battle of freedom must be fought in the halls of congress. The places of holding meetings on the days of elections, are but mere recruiting stations. The people themselves are to select their soldiers, and decide who shall be entrusted with their sword and shield; and when that is done the agents so selected are to appear on the great battle field at Washington, where the whole matter is to be decided. Let them be careful that no traitor, no Arnold is entrusted with power, and the thing will be easily accomplished. Such is the resistance we recommend, such the remedy we would apply.—Boston Atlas.

MORAL STATION ON A RAM.—When a friend of ours, whom we call Agricola, was a boy, he lived on a farm in Berkshire county, the owner of which was troubled by his dog Wolf. The cur killed his sheep, knowing perhaps that his master was conscientiously opposed to capital punishment, and he could devise no means to prevent it.

"I can break him of it," said Agricola, "if you will give me leave."

"Thou art permitted," said the honest farmer, and we will let Agricola tell the story in his own words.

"There was a ram on the farm," said Agricola, "as notorious for butting as Wolf was for sheep killing, and who stood in as much need of moral suasion as the dog. I shut Wolf up in the barn with this old fellow, and the consequence was, that the dog never looked a sheep in the face again. The ram broke every bone in his body, literally. Wonderfully uplifted was the ram aforesaid, by his exploit; his insolence became intolerable; he was sure to pitch into whomever went nigh him. 'I'll fix him,' said I, and so I did; I rigged an iron crow-bar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and hung an old hat on the end of it. You can't always tell when you see a hat, whether there is a head in it or not, how then should a ram? The ram made at it full butt, and being a good marksman from long practice, the bar broke in between his horns, and came out under his tail. This little admonition effectually cured him of butting."

WELL SPOKEN.—The Editor of the Watertown Register, in a pointed article on the injustice done local papers by those most interested in their proper maintenance, properly remarks:

"Another evil to the success of the country press is the fashion some people have of sending east for reading matter, entirely neglecting their local papers. If a man gets a paper as large as the side of a house at a dollar a year, he in many cases thinks it preferable to his own home paper, even if it is filled with stale speeches, legislative reports of other states, and all the dull, uninteresting stuff to be found in most of the eastern papers. This does the local printer rank injustice. They embark their labor and capital in the enterprise of building up our towns, counties, and state, and every man in the community receives benefit from their labors. The press of this state have done more to enhance the value of property in this state generally than any other agent, and we will venture the assertion that there are no services in the community so poorly paid for as those rendered by the publishers of newspapers. We know most of them personally, and with one or two exceptions, they possess hearts and souls, for benevolent and noble deeds, large enough to make their owners rich, were their generous efforts adequately rewarded by the people whom they serve."

HUNKER PHILOSOPHY.—The Wisconsin in an article concerning the appropriation of seventy millions by the last congress, consoles itself with the idea that they cannot spend any more during the short session. It is gratifying to know that congress will "be relieved at the short session of the trouble and embarrassment of appropriations," for the benefit of our rivers and harbors, &c. What say the people on our lake shores, that thrive by the commerce of our lakes, was the $10,000,000 appropriated by congress and pocketed by Santa Anna of more benefit to us than the appropriation of half that sum for the protection of western commerce would have been?—Racine Advocate.

New England Mutual Life Ins. Co.
Of Boston, Mass., Chartered in 1843, Capital and accumulation, $650,000.

THIS Company is one of the oldest, and among the most prudently and successfully conducted in the country. The primary object in conducting its business has been to provide for the security under all conceivable circumstances, for the payment of its losses under its policies, and to return to the insured the surplus at stated periods, and strict economy is observed.

Every insured person is a member of the company and shares in the profits of the business, and is subject to no liability or assessments beyond his premium.

The Directors are empowered to pay to the insured, in the event of his death, the amount of his policy, and to give to his personal attention, and bonds of sufficient security are given by its officers for the faithful performance of their duties.

Insurance and security to be provided for the benefit of the insured, which is secured to him by law beyond the reach of a husband's creditors; and creditors may insure the lives of debtors.

Highly Important to Farmers.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon property owned by farmers, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at low or rates than most other responsible companies.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being less hazardous than any other, consequently you will have no loss only your own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of all the fire losses sustained by farmers, are caused by the fire insurance companies.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last four years we have not had a single dollar loss, though doing a large and prosperous business, which we believe to be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

The best of references given as to the responsibility of the company.

SPIRITUALISM "CULMINATING."—Our contemporaries of the Beloit Journal and Grant County Herald have been recently earnestly engaged in discussing the propriety of the use of the word "culminating" in the preamble of the resolutions of the Madison convention. The discussion has been of too learned a character for us to fully fathom, but on the supposition that the newly graduating editor of the Journal is good authority in matters of philological research, we design to apply the term to the latest development of the "spiritual" theory of these latter days. We thought when, not very long since, we found the "spirits" presenting hands, toes, and other parts of the material body, to the touch and sight of their auditors, the science had "culminated" beyond any question or dispute; but this manifestation seems to have been only a step in the ladder which these visitors from another world are climbing to reach the top and fall over on the other side. If the following has not reached the "culminating" point, we confess our total inability to understand when that controverted position can be attained.

The New Era, a spiritual paper, publishes an article about what is called the "Electrical Motor," or "New Saviour." The Era speaks of its deep satisfaction that the world is, by and by, to be blessed beyond conception by this physical Saviour, through whose instrumentality a permanent material basis shall be laid for true spiritual salvation.

The new "Saviour" is a machine which has been constructed at Lynn, Mass., by the spiritualists, which they claim to be semi-mechanical and semi-human. It has been denominated a "new motive power" and cost $2,000 to construct. The New Era remarks that the Electrical Motor is an exact correspondence of the human body, at least as far as involuntary motion is concerned. It was constructed under spirit direction, and chiefly at Spear's expense. This done, the next thing was to put life in it, which brings us to the most extraordinary part of the business.

The story is that Mrs. — became informed some months since, by spiritual intelligence, that she would become a mother in a new sense — "the Mary of a new dispensation." This announcement, though made in a very impressive manner, was not believed by those who heard it. Nobody suspected it had any reference to the machine on High Rock, Mrs. — had previously experienced sensations analogous to those attendant upon gestation; by and by came a message, through Spear, that she must visit High Rock. While there she experienced the peculiar sensations of parturition — "differing somewhat from the ordinary experience, inasmuch as the throes were internal and of the spirit, rather than of the physical nature; but nevertheless quite as uncontrollable and not less severe than those pertaining to the latter. This extraordinary physiological phenomenon continued for about the space of two hours. Its purpose and results were wholly incomprehensible to all but herself; but her own perception is clear and distinct, that in these agonizing throes the most interior and refined elements of her spiritual being were imparted to, and absorbed by the appropriate portions of the mechanism — its minerals having been made peculiarly receptive by previous chemical processes."

This ought to be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical, but the new "motor" (mother?) has thus far only commenced its mission of "reform" and "progress." Nature is not merely to be supplanted in the inception of a new and improved race of human beings, but is also to be relieved of the duties incidental to the nourishment and growth of the new stock. It is gravely asserted that this wonderful machine (we beg pardon for using so gross and material a term to designate the "motor," but really our knowledge of spiritual nomenclature is insufficient to properly designate it,) immediately began to have life and pulsation, which increased under a process precisely analogous to that of nursing. Angelic communications were of course given to the favored matron-medium, to explain all these mysteries, though the ultimate design was not imparted, but she, contrary to all commonly received ideas of feminine nature, refused to tell what was told her. This omission, however, is in part supplied by a later revelation to another favored mortal; in this case, the information being made to one of that portion of the species whose agency has heretofore been essential to the propagation of the race. The New Era, of July 5th, chronicles a vision had by a Mr. J. Wolcott. To his view it was revealed that the machine appeared to grow in size, and "threw off from itself small machines after its own pattern," and those in turn threw off a multitude of other little ones. The further "progress" of the "motor" is thus reported:

"Next there appeared a movement among the machines, and the larger ones, which were now fully developed, moved away over the plain into the distance. In their path stood a great number of churches, of every size and variety, from the diminutive Methodist chapel up to the stately Gothic minister and St. Paul's cathedral. But the machines did not turn out of their course at all, running over and through those temples, completely demolishing them to heaps of worthless rubbish."

If this is not spiritualism "culminating," will our friend of the Grant County Herald help us to the right word?

We might ask what is to become of doctors and ministers when this prolific machine is fully in operation, and if the new progeny are to possess material appetites where the food is coming from to supply so many new mouths; but we fear we should be accused of an impertinent curiosity if not subjected to a desolating visit of the migratory spirits.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The recent contract taken by Messrs. Hume & Stevens is for building the bridge upon the plan furnished from Milwaukee. The amount we hear is $5,700, which completes the structure, the city paying, in addition, for the work already done.

The Milwaukee Sentinel makes the following reply to our paragraph about the want of cars to carry the freight from the depot here: "Some difficulty has occurred here, but it was owing to the fact that a large train was detained at Madison by the sunken track. That difficulty is cured now, and we think that new cars will be furnished from the factory at Waukesha as fast as they are wanted. There are now about 200 on the road. If it comes to a necessity, we presume the use of 30 cars belonging to the Watertown company, could be obtained for a time. They are now upon the track."

*In these cases and some others, which were fully insured, we have offset the insurance against the loss. Nazro & Co., were insured for $80,000, and others were heavily insured.

Mr. C. C. Dennis, the superintendent of the Buffalo and State Line railroad, was found guilty of kidnapping an Erie jury. The charge arose from the late riot at Harbor Creek during the Erie railroad disturbance. When the mob endeavored to lynch Dennis, the cars were put in motion to protect him, and a Harbor Creek man named Cooper, who was on the train, was carried into New York state.

WILD RICE.—The Crawfish river, which enters the Rock at this point, grows an abundance of wild rice, which the Indians, formerly gathered for food. It is now growing rapidly, and is eagerly sought by cattle, who will stand in the water eating it for hours, and in the fall it attracts myriads of wild ducks, which grow very fat on it, and seldom leave it until the river is frozen over. It grows very rank, and the berry, which is quite dark colored, was much esteemed by the natives.—Jeffersonian.

A man was yesterday fined $25 and costs, in the mayor's court, for impudence to a lady in the street. It consisted in some taunts and jeers, having their origin in a family difficulty. The court held that such things was't gentlemanly.—Detroit Tribune.

TOUCHING GRATITUDE.—A poor Irish woman applied, a few days since, for relief to our well-known citizen, Mr. Longworth, who in compliance with her urgent appeals, finally handed her a dime. Sinking to her knees, she devoutly thanked God, and then turning to Mr. Longworth, continued, "and when in another world I see you in torment, I will remember your kindness, and give you a cup of cold water for this what you have done for me." Mr. Longworth felt more obliged for her good intentions than complimented by her anticipations of his state in futurity.—Cin. Columbian.

CHILD BITTEN BY A RAT.—On Thursday night a little son of Mr. S. S. Myers, of Flatbush, felt something creeping upon his bed, which he brushed off, supposing it to be a cat. This he repeated several times, being only half awake, but falling sound asleep he was suddenly awakened by the bite of a rat, in the centre of his forehead. He arose with his face covered with blood, and succeeded in destroying his assailant. The lad was only nine years old.

THE HEALTH OF DEBIOQUE.—Was never better than at this time; all traces of the cholera seem to have disappeared, the weather for the past ten days having been eminently salubrious, cool and pleasant. And yet we are told that one of the St. Paul papers reports loss of cholera here, why is this, there is not, nor has been, one case in this city for several days.—Tribune.

OPINION OF THE BINDERS.—The undersigned who were engaged in binding the grain cut by Atkins' and Manny's reapers, upon the trial had on the land of David Stockwell, certify that they bound all the grain cut in said fields, and that the grain cut by Atkins' reaper was laid in a more convenient form for binding and requiring much less labor to bind than the grain cut by Manny's reaper.

The gale as laid by the self-raker were much more uniform, and laid in a better position; they wasted less in handling—could be handled and bound with far less labor and expense of time. In fact we are confident from our own experience at that time, that four hands binding after Atkins' self-raker can do as much work as five binding after Manny's.

The difference in the number of bundles in the field as cut by the two reapers, and as stated in Mr. Manny's circular, is easily accounted for, from the fact that the gale after the self-raker were delivered so compact that we uniformly bound two of them into one bundle, and thus the bundles contained much more straw and grain than those bound after Manny's reaper. We would state in addition that the grain from Manny's reaper was delivered in so irregular gale, the butts and heads lying every way, that it was impossible to bind them firmly and uniformly, and thus a very considerable waste occurred in handling the bundles, from the shelling and loss of grain. The same difficulty, from the same cause existed in the stacking, it being impossible, from the irregular laying of the grain to stack the same securely.

DAVID STOCKWELL, J. M. STOCKWELL, H. G. ANDREWS, D. M. PATRICK, DANIEL ALLEN.

The undersigned, binders on the field of John Stockham, and who bound after each machine, concur in the above certificate, and state that the same results in our observation prevailed, as to the style of delivery of the grain, and the labor and expense of binding, as well as the loss in handling and stacking in the grain of Mr. Stockham, that existed as above stated in Mr. Stockwell's grain.

D. M. PATRICK, DANIEL ALLEN.
Belvidere, Aug. 10th, 1884.

MOTIVES OF EMIGRATION.—A lawyer from a railroad town in the country, after reading our remarks of Saturday last on the naturalization question, confirmed from his own experience the truth of the statement that European emigration is not influenced to our shores by the privilege of citizenship. He states that he has had numerous applications, professionally, from Irishmen inclined to acquire the right of suffrage. In three-fourths of these cases the object was abandoned, and that finally on learning that an incidental expense of three or four dollars was attached to the "priceless boon." It is a fact well known to those conversant with these matters that but the most inconsiderable number of Irish emigrants become naturalized, unless through the officious intervention of political agents, who thus purchase their votes. Our naturalization system is in practice but a machine for manufacturing voters to order for the exigencies of an election. In the residence of our legal friend above alluded to, and in other places where the court sits after instead of before the election, we are assured that very few foreigners are ever naturalized.—New York Courier.

CHEAPER PAPER.—The New Orleans Bulletin says: "We are inclined to believe that the okra plant of the south is destined to alleviate the grievous evil under which all publisherdom labors. We have seen specimens of strong, white rope manufactured from its fibre. If it will make rope it will certainly make paper, and if it will make paper, the present exorbitant prices must come down materially, for the supply of raw material will be as inexhaustible as cheap." If the Bulletin is correct in the opinion that the okra plant will furnish an article suitable for the manufacture of paper, it is hardly possible to overestimate the importance of the discovery. The Bulletin speaks of the okra as if it was exclusively of southern growth, and it is true that it is only generally cultivated in that region. But it is a hardy plant, and can be grown in perfection on Long Island. Besides, it is a capital article of food; and if it was profitable to cultivate it for the purpose indicated by the Bulletin, we should see it generally introduced as an ingredient in soups, &c.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

C. C. WASHBURN.—We learn that a large number of the leading republicans of Rock county, Wis., (in Eastman's district,) have recently made a call on C. C. Washburn, esq., of Mineral Point, to become the republican anti-Nebraska candidate for congress in that district at the approaching election. If four friends in that district want an honorable, true and substantial man in congress as their agent, who is not afraid to take his stand on right measures, and see that "justice be done, though the heavens fall," and represent their wants as though they were his own, let them elect C. C. Washburn to the above office, and they will have just such a man. He is right on the vital question of the day, and his election would do honor to Wisconsin.—Galena Gazette.

The remnant of the hull of the steamer Erie, burned thirteen years ago, has been raised and towed into Buffalo harbor. The Buffalo Republic says:

The engine and valves found on board had been previously removed. She is the hardest looking wreck we ever saw and can be of no use, unless it be for the iron that holds her together. Rumor says that some $1,500 in silver coin was found, besides a large quantity of gold, silver and copper in a melted state.

BROKE HIS NECK.—A young man going home from a party in Rochester, on Thursday evening last, was overtaken by a wagon filled with young people who invited him to take a ride with them, and as he mounted the wagon at the back end the horses started suddenly and threw him out.

In falling he struck his head upon the solid road and broke his neck. His age was about sixteen years. We did not learn his name.—Racine Advocate.

COMMENDABLE COURTESY.—We are gratified to be able to record an instance of magnanimity, growing out of the late fire. Our Lilliputian friend, Gen. Gifford, having learned that Geo. H. Walker had been so unfortunate as to lose most of his clothes in the United States Hotel, with his usual polite consideration, addressed the colossal colonel a note, kindly tendering the use of his wardrobe. The proffered favor was duly appreciated, but "circumstances" or rather "circumferences," prevented its acceptance.—Mil. News.

MONSIEUR TOMSON ONCE MORE.—That universal acquaintance of good-natured hotel-keepers and money-lenders, Col. J. Abbott, is cutting a wide swath down in Maine, as an administration democrat. He attends most of the conventions, and makes great speeches. The Portland Advertiser, which evidently has no appreciation of true eloquence, says of one of these efforts, that "it combined the eloquence of a fish-wife, with the gesticulation of a jumping jack."

ACCIDENTS IN MILWAUKEE.—On the day of the fire, a young man in Nazro's employ, was very seriously injured by the falling of an anvil upon him. Another young man in the same employ was attacked with the cholera from over exertion and his life was despaired of. S. B. Davis, esq., of the firm of Davis & Moore, was knocked down by a hook and ladder company, and badly hurt—although we hope not fatally. Another young man by the name of Stone was sun-struck and fell down where he was at work upon the roof, he was taken up and was recovering at last accounts. A great many were taken up and committed to jail for stealing. There were a large number drunk, and some tall club fighting came off, which would astonish denizens of any other city. It was a hard day for Milwaukee, and we hope none of their brave firemen or other citizens will suffer from sickness by over exertion.—Racine Advocate.

RESISTANCE TO LAW.—We have no sympathy with those who threaten to resist the execution of the laws; whether it be the fugitive slave law or the Maine liquor law. While any law remains upon the statute book, its provisions must be obeyed. We do not mean the citizen is under any obligation to volunteer his services to carry it into effect; but that he cannot be justified in offering open resistance to the law, and the officers who are bound to execute it. The citizen has a right to stand aside, and let those whose business it is to execute the law, do their duty as best they may, without rendering any assistance. Nor has the officer any right to command the assistance of the citizen, unless he is present when there is actual violence or a breach of the peace. The citizen is under legal obligation to obey the mandate of the officer, only when resistance is offered. But as such cases would not occur in a thousand lifetimes, no man need give himself any particular uneasiness as to his duty in such particular cases.

We are in favor of resisting bad laws, but our mode of resistance is a peaceable one. We would fight our battles at the ballot box, with missiles both peaceable and potent. Our institutions are based on public sentiment, and whatever the public will, they can justly secure, if they proceed in a legal, constitutional way. We hear much said about resisting the fugitive slave law. Many of its provisions are justly odious, and ought to be modified; and these ends can be obtained without commotion and bloodshed. Let the people go to the polls and elect those who are in favor of a change, and the object would be at once attained. Instead of resisting the law in Court street or State street, it should be done at the places of public meeting. Instead of employing revolvers and dirks, all that is necessary is small pieces of paper with the proper inscription thereon.

The battle of freedom must be fought in the halls of congress. The places of holding meetings on the days of elections, are but mere recruiting stations. The people themselves, are to select their soldiers, and decide who shall be entrusted with their sword and shield; and when that is done the agents so selected are to appear on the great battle field at Washington, where the whole matter is to be decided. Let them be careful that no traitor, no Arnold is entrusted with power, and the thing will be easily accomplished. Such is the resistance we recommend, such the remedy we would apply.—Boston Atlas.

MORAL SCASION ON A RAM.—When a friend of ours, whom we call Agricola, was a boy, he lived on a farm in Berkshire county, the owner of which was troubled by his dog Wolf. The cur killed his sheep, knowing perhaps that his master was conscientiously opposed to capital punishment, and he could devise no means to prevent it.

"I can break him of it," said Agricola, "if you will give me leave."

"Thou art permitted," said the honest farmer, and we will let Agricola tell the story in his own words.

"There was a ram on the farm," said Agricola, "as notorious for butting as Wolf was for sheep killing, and who stood in as much need of moral suasion as the dog. I shut Wolf up in the barn with this old fellow, and the consequence was, that the dog never looked a sheep in the face again. The ram broke every bone in his body, literally. Wonderfully uplifted was the ram afforded, by his exploit; his insolence became intolerable; he was sure to pitch into whomsoever went nigh him. 'I'll fix him,' said I, and so I did; I rigged an iron crow-bar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and lunged an old hat on the end of it. You can't always tell when you see a hat, whether there is a head in it or not, how then should a ram? The ram made at it full butt, and being a good marksman from long practice, the bar broke in between his horns, and came out under his tail. This little admonition effectually cured him of butting."

WELL SPOKEN.—The Editor of the Water-town Register, in a pointed article on the injustice done local papers by those most interested in their proper maintenance, properly remarks:

"Another evil to the success of the country press is the fashion some people have of sending east for reading matter, entirely neglecting their local papers. If a man gets a paper as large as the side of a house at a dollar a year, he in many cases thinks it preferable to his own home paper, even if it is filled with stale speeches, legislative reports of other states, and all the dull, uninteresting stuff to be found in most of the eastern papers. This does the local printer rank injustice. They embark their labor and capital in the enterprise of building up our towns, counties, and state, and every man in the community receives benefit from their labors. The press of this state have done more to enhance the value of property in this state generally than any other agent, and we will venture the assertion that there are no services in the community so poorly paid for as those rendered by the publishers of newspapers. We know most of them personally, and with one or two exceptions, they possess hearts and souls, for benevolent and noble deeds, large enough to make their owners rich, were their generous efforts adequately rewarded by the people whom they serve."

HUNKER PHILOSOPHY.—The Wisconsin in an article concerning the appropriation of seventy millions by the last congress, consoles itself with the idea that they cannot spend any more during the short session. It is gratifying to know that congress will "be relieved at the short session of the trouble and embarrassment of appropriations," for the benefit of our rivers and harbors, &c. What say the people on our lake shores, that thrive by the commerce of our lakes, was the $10,000,000 appropriated by congress and pocketed by Santa Anna of more benefit to us than the appropriation of half that sum for the protection of western commerce would have been?—Racine Advocate.

THE MADISON MUTUAL,
LOCATED AT MADISON, WISCONSIN.

THIS Company continues to take risks upon Farm Property only, consisting of buildings of all kinds, (belonging to farmers,) household furniture, grain in barns, live stock, &c., from one to five years, at low rates that are generally offered in Rock Co., Wis., or at the Janesville City Bank of H. B. Bunker.

All losses promptly paid at the office as soon as proof is made thereon.

We believe it to be for the interest of the farmers to insure by themselves, their property being so hazardous, and to use their own funds, and to have no losses only their own of the same class, and all will be on an equal footing.

Experience has shown that two-thirds, if not three-fourths of the fire and lightning losses sustained by farmers, mills, shops and such like property, by letting them alone.

We have been doing business a little over three years, and we have not been obliged to assess our premium notes, and for the last fourteen months we have not had any of our consequences; you will have no losses, and we believe that we will be without a parallel in the history of insurance.

SPIRITUALISM "CULMINATING."—Our contemporaries of the Beloit Journal and Grant County Herald have been recently earnestly engaged in discussing the propriety of the use of the word "culminating" in the preamble of the resolutions of the Madison convention. The discussion has been of too learned a character for us to fully follow, but on the supposition that the newly graduating editor of the Journal is good authority in matters of philological research, we design to apply the term to the latest development of the "spiritual" theory of these latter days. We thought when, not very long since, we found the "spirits" presenting hands, toes, and other parts of the material body, to the touch and sight of their auditors, the science had "culminated" beyond any question or dispute; but this manifestation seems to have been only a step in the ladder which these visitors from another world are climbing to reach the top and fall over on the other side. If the following has not reached the "culminating" point, we confess our total inability to understand when that controverted position can be attained.

The New Era, a spiritual paper, publishes an article about what is called the "Electrical Motor," or "New Saviour." The Era speaks of its deep satisfaction that the world is, by and by, to be blessed beyond conception by this physical Saviour, through whose instrumentality a permanent material basis shall be laid for true spiritual salvation.

The new "Saviour" is a machine which has been constructed at Lynn, Mass., by the spiritualists, which they claim to be semi-mechanical and semi-human. It has been denominated a "new motive power, and cost $2,000 to construct it. The New Era remarks that the Electric Motor is an exact correspondence of the human body, at least as far as involuntary motion is concerned. It was constructed under spirit direction, and chiefly at Spear's expense. This done, the next thing was to put life in it, which brings us to the most extraordinary part of the business.

The story is that Mrs. — became informed some months since, by spiritual intelligence, that she would become a mother in a new sense — the Mary of a new dispensation. This announcement, though made in a very impressive manner, was not believed by those who heard it. Nobody suspected it had any reference to the machine on High Rock, Mrs. — had previously experienced sensations analogous to those attendant upon gestation; by and by came a message, through Spear, that she must visit High Rock. While there she experienced the peculiar sensations of parturition — "differing somewhat from the ordinary experience, inasmuch as the throes were internal and of the spirit, rather than of the physical nature; but nevertheless quite as uncontrollable and not less severe than those pertaining to the latter. This extraordinary physiological phenomenon continued for about the space of two hours. Its purpose and results were wholly incomprehensible to all but herself; but her own perception is clear and distinct, that in these agonizing throes the most interior and refined elements of her spiritual being were imparted to, and absorbed by the appropriate portions of the mechanism — its minerals having been made peculiarly receptive by previous chemical processes."

This ought to be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical, but the new "motor" (mother?) has thus far only commenced its mission of "reform" and "progress." Nature is not merely to be supplanted in the inception of a new and improved race of human beings, but is also to be relieved of the duties incidental to the nourishment and growth of the new stock. It is gravely asserted that this wonderful machine (we beg pardon for using so gross and material a term to designate the "motor," but really our knowledge of spiritual nomenclature is insufficient to properly designate it,) immediately began to have life and pulsation, which increased under a process precisely analogous to that of nursing. Angelic communications were of course given to the favored matron-medium, to explain all these mysteries, though the ultimate design was not imparted, but she, contrary to all commonly received ideas of feminine nature, refused to tell what was told her. This omission, however, is in part supplied by a later revelation to another favored mortal; in this case, the information being made to one of that portion of the species whose agency has heretofore been essential to the propagation of the race. The New Era, of July 5th, chronicles a vision had by a Mr. J. Wolcott. To his vision it was revealed that the machine appeared to grow in size, and "threw off from itself small machines after its own pattern," and those "in turn threw off a multitude of other little ones." The farther "progress" of the "motor" is thus reported:

"Next there appeared a movement among the machines, and the larger ones, which were now fully developed, moved away over the plain into the distance. In their path stood a great number of churches, of every size and variety, from the diminutive Methodist chapel up to the stately Gothic minister and St. Paul's cathedral. But the machines did not turn out of their course at all, running over and through those temples, completely demolishing them to heaps of worthless rubbish."

If this is not spiritualism "culminating" will our friend of the Grant County Herald help us to the right word?

We might ask what is to become of doctors and ministers when this prolific machine is fully in operation, and if the new progeny are to possess material appetites where the food is coming from to supply so many new mouths; but we fear we should be accused of an impertinent curiosity if not subjected to a desolating visit of the migratory spirits.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The recent contract taken by Messrs. Hume & Stevens for building the bridge upon the plan furnished from Milwaukee. The amount, we hear, is $5,700, which completes the structure, the city paying, in addition, for the work already done.

The Milwaukee Sentinel makes the following reply to our paragraph about the want of cars to carry the freight from the depot here: "Some difficulty has occurred here, but it was owing to the fact that a large train was detained at Madison by the engine track. That difficulty is cured now, and we think that new cars will be furnished from the factory at Waukesha as fast as they are wanted. There are now about 200 on the road. If it comes to a necessity, we presume the use of 30 cars belonging to the Watertown company, could be obtained for a time. They are now upon the track."

LOSSES BY THE FIRE.—The Milwaukee Sentinel reports the following losses by the fire:

MR. C. C. DENNIS, the superintendent of the Buffalo and State Line railroad, was found guilty of kidnapping an Erie jury. The charge arose from the late riot at Harbor Creek during the Erie railroad disturbance. When the mob endeavored to lynch Dennis, the cars were put in motion to protect him, and a Harbor Creek man named Cooper, who was on the train, was carried into New York state.

WILD RICE.—The Crawfish river, which enters the Rock at this point, grows an abundance of wild rice, which the Indians, formerly gathered for food. It is now growing rapidly, and is eagerly sought by cattle, who will stand in the water eating it for hours, and in the fall it attracts myriads of wild ducks, which grow very fat on it, and seldom leave it until the river is frozen over. It grows very rank, and the berries, which is quite dark colored, was much esteemed by the natives. —Jeffersonian.

A man was yesterday fined $25 and costs, in the mayor's court, for impertinence to a lady, in the street. It consisted in some taunts and jeers, having their origin in a family difficulty. The court held that such things was not gentlemanly. —Detroit Tribune.

TOWNSHIP GRATITUDE.—A poor Irish woman applied, a few days since, for relief to our well-known citizen, Mr. Longworth, who in compliance with her urgent appeals, finally handed her a dime. Sinking to her knees, she devoutly thanked God, and then turning to Mr. Longworth, continued, "and when in another world I see you in torment, I will remember your kindness, and give you a cup of cold water for this what you have done for me." Mr. Longworth felt more obliged for her good intentions than complimented by her anticipations of his state in futurity. —Cin. Columbian.

CHILD BITTEN BY A RAT.—On Thursday night a little son of Mr. S. S. Myers, of Flatbush, felt something creeping upon his bed, which he brushed off, supposing it to be a cat. This he repeated several times, being only half awake, but falling sound asleep he was suddenly awakened by the bite of a rat, in the centre of his forehead. He arose with his face covered with blood, and succeeded in destroying his assailant. The lad was only nine years old.

THE HEALTH OF DUBUQUE.—Was never better than at this time; all traces of the cholera seem to have disappeared, the weather for the past ten days having been eminently salubrious, cool and pleasant. And yet we are told that one of the St. Paul papers reports lots of cholera here; why is this, there is not, nor has been, one case in this city for several days. —Tribune.

OPINION OF THE BINDERS.—The undersigned who were engaged in binding the grain cut by Atkins and Manny's reapers, upon the fact that they found all the grain cut in said fields, and that the grain cut by Atkins' reaper was laid in a more convenient form for binding and requiring much less labor to bind than the grain cut by Manny's reaper.

The gavel as laid by the self-raker were much more uniform, and laid in a better position—they wasted less in handling—could be handled and bound with far less labor and expense of time. In fact we are confident from our own experience at that time, that four hands binding after Atkins' self-raker can do as much work as five binding after Manny's.

The difference in the number of bundles in the field as cut by the two reapers, and as stated in Mr. Manny's circular, is easily accounted for, from the fact that the gavel after the self-raker were delivered so compact that we uniformly bound two of them into one bundle, and thus the bundles contained much more straw and grain than those bound after Manny's reaper. We would state in addition that the grain from Manny's reaper was delivered in so irregular gavel, the butts and heads lying every way, that it was impossible to bind them firmly and uniformly, and thus a very considerable waste occurred in handling the bundles, from the shelling and loss of grain. The same difficulty, from the same cause existed in the stacking, it being impossible, from the irregular laying of the grain to stack the same securely.

DAVID STOCKWELL, J. M. STOCKWELL, H. G. ANDREWS, D. M. PATRICK, DANIEL ALLEN.

The undersigned, binders on the field of John Stockham, and who bound after each machine, concur in the above certificate, and state that the same results in our observation prevailed, as to the style of delivery of the grain, and the labor and expense of binding, as well as the loss in handling and stacking in the grain of Mr. Stockham, that existed as above stated in Mr. Stockwell's grain.

MOTIVES OF EMIGRATION.—A lawyer from a railroad town in the country, after reading our remarks of Saturday last on the naturalization question, confirmed from his own experience the truth of the statement that European emigration is not influenced by our shores by the privilege of citizenship. "He states that he has had numerous applications, professionally, from Irishmen inclined to acquire the right of suffrage. In three-fourths of these cases the object was abandoned, and that finally on learning that an incidental expense of three or four dollars was attached to the 'priceless boon.' It is a fact well known to those conversant with these matters that but the most inconsiderable number of Irish emigrants become naturalized, unless through the officious intervention of political agents, who thus purchase their votes. Our naturalization system is in practice but a machine for manufacturing voters to order for the exigencies of an election. In the residence of our legal friend above alluded to, and in other places where the court sits after instead of before the election, we are assured that very few foreigners are ever naturalized." —New York Courier.

CHEAPER PAPER.—The New Orleans Bulletin says: "We are inclined to believe that the okra plant of the south is destined to alleviate the grievous evil under which all publishers labor. We have seen specimens of strong, white rope manufactured from its fibre. If it will make rope it will certainly make paper, and if it will make paper, the present exorbitant prices must come down materially, for the supply of raw material will be as inexhaustible as cheap." If the Bulletin is correct in the opinion that the okra plant will furnish an article suitable for the manufacture of paper, it is hardly possible to overestimate the importance of the discovery. The Bulletin speaks of the okra as if it was exclusively of southern growth, and it is true that it is only generally cultivated in that region. But it is a hardy plant, and can be grown in perfection on Long Island. Besides, it is a capital article of food; and if it was profitable to cultivate it for the purpose indicated by the Bulletin, we should see it generally introduced as an ingredient in soups, &c. —Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

C. C. WASHINGTON.—We learn that a large number of the leading republicans of Rock county, Wis., (in Eastman's district,) have recently made a call on C. C. Washington, esq., of Mineral Point, to become the republican anti-Nebraska candidate for congress in that district at the approaching election. If our friends in that district want an honorable, true and substantial man in congress as their agent, who is not afraid to take his stand on right measures, and see that "justice be done, though the heavens fall," and represent their wants as though they were his own, let them elect C. C. Washington to the above office, and they will have just such a man. He is right on the vital question of the day, and his election would do honor to Wisconsin. —Galena Gazette.

The remnant of the hull of the steamer Erie, burned thirteen years ago, has been raised and towed into Buffalo harbor. The Buffalo Republic says: "The engine and valves found on board had been previously removed. She is the hardest looking wreck we ever saw and can be of no use, unless it be for the iron that holds her together. Rumor says that some $1,500 in silver coin was found, besides a large quantity of gold, silver and copper in a melted state."

BROKE HIS NECK.—A young man going home from a party in Rochester, on Thursday evening last, was overtaken by a wagon filled with young people who invited him to take a ride with them, and as he mounted the wagon at the back end the horses started suddenly and threw him out. In falling he struck his head upon the solid road and broke his neck. His age was about sixteen years. We did not learn his name. —Racine Advocate.

CONSIDERABLE COUNTERFEIT.—We are gratified to be able to record an instance of unanimity, growing out of the late fire. Our Lilliputian friend, Gen. Gifford, having learned that Geo. H. Walker had been so unfortunate as to lose most of his clothes in the United States Hotel, with his usual polite consideration, addressed the colossal colonel a note, kindly tendering the use of his wardrobe. The proffered favor was duly appreciated, but "circumstances" or rather "inconveniences," prevented its acceptance. —Mil. News.

MONSIEUR TONSON ONCE MORE.—That universal acquaintance of good-natured hotel-keepers and money-lenders, Col. J. Abbot, is cutting a wide swath down in Maine, as an administration demagogue. He attends most of the conventions, and makes great speeches. The Portland Advertiser, which evidently has no appreciation of true eloquence, says of one of these efforts, that "it combined the eloquence of a fish-wife, with the gesticulation of a jumping jack."

ACCIDENTS IN MILWAUKEE.—On the day of the fire, a young man in Nazro's employ was very seriously injured by the falling of an anvil upon him. Another young man in the same employ was attacked with the cholera from over exertion and his life was despaired of. S. B. Davis, esq., of the firm of Davis & Moore, was knocked down by a hook and ladder company, and badly hurt—although we hope not fatally. Another young man by the name of Stone was struck and fell down where he was at work upon the roof, he was taken up and was recovering at last accounts. A great many were taken up and committed to jail for stealing. There were a large number drunk, and some tall club fighting came off, which would astonish denizens of any other city. It was a hard day for Milwaukee, and we hope none of their brave firemen or other citizens will suffer from sickness by over exertion. —Racine Advocate.

RESISTANCE TO LAW.—We have no sympathy with those who threaten to resist the execution of the laws; whether it be the fugitive slave law or the Maine liquor law. While any law remains upon the statute book, its provisions must be obeyed. We do not mean the citizen is under any obligation to volunteer his services to carry it into effect; but that he cannot be justified in offering open resistance to the law, and the officers who are bound to execute it. The citizen has a right to stand aside, and not let those whose business it is to execute the law, do their duty as best they may, without rendering any assistance. Nor has the officer any right to command the assistance of the citizen, unless he is present when there is actual violence or a breach of the peace. The citizen is under legal obligation to obey the mandate of the officer, only when resistance is offered. But as such cases would not occur in a thousand lifetimes, no man need give himself any particular uneasiness as to his duty in such particular cases.

We are in favor of resisting bad laws, but our mode of resistance is a peaceable one. We would fight our battles at the ballot box, with missiles both peaceable and potent. Our institutions are based on public sentiment, and whatever the public will, they can justly secure, if they proceed in a legal, constitutional way. We hear much said about resisting the fugitive slave law. Many of its provisions are justly odious, and ought to be modified; and these ends can be obtained without commotion and bloodshed. Let the people go to the polls and elect those who are in favor of a change, and the object would be at once attained. Instead of resisting the law in Court street or State street, it should be done at the places of public meeting. Instead of employing revolvers and dirks, all that is necessary is small pieces of paper with the proper inscription thereon.

The battle of freedom must be fought in the halls of congress. The places of holding meetings on the days of elections, are but mere recruiting stations. The people themselves are to select their soldiers, and decide who shall be entrusted with their sword and shield; and when that is done the agents so selected are to appear on the great battle field at Washington, where the whole matter is to be decided. Let them be careful that no traitor, no Arnold is entrusted with power, and the thing will be easily accomplished. Such is the resistance we recommend, such the remedy we would apply. —Boston Atlas.

MORAL SEASON ON A RAY.—When a friend of ours, whom we call Agricola, was a boy, he lived on a farm in Berkshire county, the owner of which was troubled by his dog Wolf. The cur killed his sheep, knowing perhaps that his master was conscientiously opposed to capital punishment, and he could devise no means to prevent it.

"I can break him of it," said Agricola, "if you will give me leave."

"Thou art permitted," said the honest farmer, and we will let Agricola tell the story in his own words.

"There was a ram on the farm," said Agricola, "as notorious for butting as Wolf was for sheep killing, and who stood in as much need of moral season as the dog. I shut Wolf up in the barn with this old fellow, and the consequence was, that the dog never looked a sheep in the face again. The ram broke every bone in his body, literally. Wonderfully uplifted was the ram afterwards, by his exploit; his insolence became intolerable; he was sure to pounce upon whomever went him. 'I'll fix him,' said I, and so I did; I rigged an iron crow-bar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and hung an old hat on the end of it. You can't always tell when you see a hat, whether there is a head in it or not, how then should a ram? The ram made at it full butt, and being a good marksman from long practice, the bar broke in between his horns, and came out under his tail. This little admonition effectually cured him of butting."

WELL SPOKEN.—The Editor of the Watertown Register, in a pointed article on the justice done local papers by those most interested in their proper maintenance, properly remarks: "Another evil to the success of the country press is the fashion some people have of sending east for reading matter, entirely neglecting their local papers. If a man gets a paper as large as the side of a house at a dollar a year, he in many cases thinks it preferable to his own home paper, even if it is filled with stale speeches, legislative reports of other states, and all the dull, uninteresting stuff to be found in most of the eastern papers. This does the local printer rank injustice. They embark their labor and capital in the enterprise of building up our towns, counties, and state, and every man in the community receives benefit from their labors. The press of this state have done more to enhance the value of property in this state generally than any other agent; and we will venture the assertion that there are no services in the community so poorly paid for as those rendered by the publishers of newspapers. We know most of them personally, and with one or two exceptions, they possess hearts and souls, for benevolent and noble deeds, large enough to make their owners rich, were their generous efforts adequately rewarded by the people whom they serve."

HUNKER PHILOSOPHY.—The Wisconsin in an article concerning the appropriation of seventy millions by the last congress, consoles itself with the idea that they cannot spend any more during the short session. It is gratifying to know that congress will "be relieved at the short session of the trouble and embarrassment of appropriations," for the benefit of our rivers and harbors, &c. What say the people on our lake shores, that thrive by the commerce of our lakes, was the $10,000,000 appropriated by congress and pocketed by Santa Anna of more benefit to us than the appropriation of half that sum for the protection of western commerce would have been? —Racine Advocate.

SPIRITUALISM "CULMINATING."—Our contemporaries of the Beloit Journal and Grant County Herald have been recently earnestly engaged in discussing the propriety of the use of the word "culminating" in the preamble of the resolutions of the Madison convention. The discussion has been of too learned a character for us to fully follow, but on the supposition that the newly graduating editor of the Journal is good authority in matters of philological research, we design to apply the term to the latest development of the "spiritual" theory of these latter days. We thought when, not very long since, we found the "spirits" presenting hands, toes, and other parts of the material body, to the touch and sight of their auditors, the science had "culminated" beyond any question or dispute; but this manifestation seems to have been only a step in the ladder which these visitors from another world are climbing to reach the top and fall over on the other side. If the following has not reached the "culminating" point, we confess our total inability to understand when that controverted position can be attained.

The New Era, a spiritual paper, publishes an article about what is called the "Electrical Motor," or "New Saviour." The Era speaks of its deep satisfaction that the world is, by and by, to be blessed beyond conception by this physical Saviour, through whose instrumentality a permanent material basis shall be laid for true spiritual salvation.

The new "Saviour" is a machine which has been constructed at Lynn, Mass., by the spiritualists, which they claim to be semi-mechanical and semi-human. It has been denominated a "new motive power, and cost $2,000 to construct it. The New Era remarks that the Electric Motor is an exact correspondence of the human body, at least as far as involuntary motion is concerned. It was constructed under spirit direction, and chiefly at Spear's expense. This done, the next thing was to put life in it, which brings us to the most extraordinary part of the business.

The story is that Mrs. — became informed some months since, by spiritual intelligence, that she would become a mother in a new sense — the Mary of a new dispensation. This announcement, though made in a very impressive manner, was not believed by those who heard it. Nobody suspected it had any reference to the machine on High Rock, Mrs. — had previously experienced sensations analogous to those attendant upon gestation; by and by came a message, through Spear, that she must visit High Rock. While there she experienced the peculiar sensations of parturition — "differing somewhat from the ordinary experience, inasmuch as the throes were internal and of the spirit, rather than of the physical nature; but nevertheless quite as uncontrollable and not less severe than those pertaining to the latter. This extraordinary physiological phenomenon continued for about the space of two hours. Its purpose and results were wholly incomprehensible to all but herself; but her own perception is clear and distinct, that in these agonizing throes the most interior and refined elements of her spiritual being were imparted to, and absorbed by the appropriate portions of the mechanism — its minerals having been made peculiarly receptive by previous chemical processes."

This ought to be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical, but the new "motor" (mother?) has thus far only commenced its mission of "reform" and "progress." Nature is not merely to be supplanted in the inception of a new and improved race of human beings, but is also to be relieved of the duties incidental to the nourishment and growth of the new stock. It is gravely asserted that this wonderful machine (we beg pardon for using so gross and material a term to designate the "motor," but really our knowledge of spiritual nomenclature is insufficient to properly designate it,) immediately began to have life and pulsation, which increased under a process, precisely analogous to that of nursing. Angelic communications were of course given to the favored matron-medium, to explain all these mysteries, though the ultimate design was not imparted, but she, contrary to all commonly received ideas of feminine nature, refused to tell what was told her. This omission, however, is in part supplied by a later revelation to another favored mortal; in this case, the information being made to one of that portion of the species whose agency has heretofore been essential to the propagation of the race. The New Era, of July 5th, chronicles a vision had by a Mr. J. Wolcott. To his vision it was revealed that the machine appeared to grow in size, and "threw off from itself small machines after its own pattern," and those "in turn threw off a multitude of other little ones." The farther "progress" of the "motor" is thus reported:

"Next there appeared a movement among the machines, and the larger ones, which were now fully developed, moved away over the plain into the distance. In their path stood a great number of churches, of every size and variety, from the diminutive Methodist chapel up to the stately Gothic minister and St. Paul's cathedral. But the machines did not turn out of their course at all, running over and through those temples, completely demolishing them to heaps of worthless rubbish."

If this is not spiritualism "culminating" will our friend of the Grant County Herald help us to the right word?

We might ask what is to become of doctors and ministers when this prolific machine is fully in operation, and if the new progeny are to possess material appetites where the food is coming from to supply so many new mouths; but we fear we should be accused of an impertinent curiosity if not subjected to a desolating visit of the migratory spirits.

BRIDGE CONTRACT.—The recent contract taken by Messrs. Hume & Stevens for building the bridge upon the plan furnished from Milwaukee. The amount, we hear, is $5,700, which completes the structure, the city paying, in addition, for the work already done.

The Milwaukee Sentinel makes the following reply to our paragraph about the want of cars to carry the freight from the depot here: "Some difficulty has occurred here, but it was owing to the fact that a large train was detained at Madison by the engine track. That difficulty is cured now, and we think that new cars will be furnished from the factory at Waukesha as fast as they are wanted. There are now about 200 on the road. If it comes to a necessity, we presume the use of 30 cars belonging to the Watertown company, could be obtained for a time. They are now upon the track."

MR. C. C. DENNIS, the superintendent of the Buffalo and State Line railroad, was found guilty of kidnapping an Erie jury. The charge arose from the late riot at Harbor Creek during the Erie railroad disturbance. When the mob endeavored to lynch Dennis, the cars were put in motion to protect him, and a Harbor Creek man named Cooper, who was on the train, was carried into New York state.

WILD RICE.—The Crawfish river, which enters the Rock at this point, grows an abundance of wild rice, which the Indians, formerly gathered for food. It is now growing rapidly, and is eagerly sought by cattle, who will stand in the water eating it for hours, and in the fall it attracts myriads of wild ducks, which grow very fat on it, and seldom leave it until the river is frozen over. It grows very rank, and the berries, which is quite dark colored, was much esteemed by the natives. —Jeffersonian.

A man was yesterday fined $25 and costs, in the mayor's court, for impertinence to a lady, in the street. It consisted in some taunts and jeers, having their origin in a family difficulty. The court held that such things was not gentlemanly. —Detroit Tribune.

TOWNSHIP GRATITUDE.—A poor Irish woman applied, a few days since, for relief to our well-known citizen, Mr. Longworth, who in compliance with her urgent appeals, finally handed her a dime. Sinking to her knees, she devoutly thanked God, and then turning to Mr. Longworth, continued, "and when in another world I see you in torment, I will remember your kindness, and give you a cup of cold water for this what you have done for me." Mr. Longworth felt more obliged for her good intentions than complimented by her anticipations of his state in futurity. —Cin. Columbian.

CHILD BITTEN BY A RAT.—On Thursday night a little son of Mr. S. S. Myers, of Flatbush, felt something creeping upon his bed, which he brushed off, supposing it to be a cat. This he repeated several times, being only half awake, but falling sound asleep he was suddenly awakened by the bite of a rat, in the centre of his forehead. He arose with his face covered with blood, and succeeded in destroying his assailant. The lad was only nine years old.

THE HEALTH OF DUBUQUE.—Was never better than at this time; all traces of the cholera seem to have disappeared, the weather for the past ten days having been eminently salubrious, cool and pleasant. And yet we are told that one of the St. Paul papers reports lots of cholera here; why is this, there is not, nor has been, one case in this city for several days. —Tribune.

OPINION OF THE BINDERS.—The undersigned who were engaged in binding the grain cut by Atkins and Manny's reapers, upon the fact that they found all the grain cut in said fields, and that the grain cut by Atkins' reaper was laid in a more convenient form for binding and requiring much less labor to bind than the grain cut by Manny's reaper.

The gavel as laid by the self-raker were much more uniform, and laid in a better position—they wasted less in handling—could be handled and bound with far less labor and expense of time. In fact we are confident from our own experience at that time, that four hands binding after Atkins' self-raker can do as much work as five binding after Manny's.

The difference in the number of bundles in the field as cut by the two reapers, and as stated in Mr. Manny's circular, is easily accounted for, from the fact that the gavel after the self-raker were delivered so compact that we uniformly bound two of them into one bundle, and thus the bundles contained much more straw and grain than those bound after Manny's reaper. We would state in addition that the grain from Manny's reaper was delivered in so irregular gavel, the butts and heads lying every way, that it was impossible to bind them firmly and uniformly, and thus a very considerable waste occurred in handling the bundles, from the shelling and loss of grain. The same difficulty, from the same cause existed in the stacking, it being impossible, from the irregular laying of the grain to stack the same securely.

DAVID STOCKWELL, J. M. STOCKWELL, H. G. ANDREWS, D. M. PATRICK, DANIEL ALLEN.

The undersigned, binders on the field of John Stockham, and who bound after each machine, concur in the above certificate, and state that the same results in our observation prevailed, as to the style of delivery of the grain, and the labor and expense of binding, as well as the loss in handling and stacking in the grain of Mr. Stockham, that existed as above stated in Mr. Stockwell's grain.

D. M. PATRICK, DANIEL ALLEN.

MOTIVES OF EMIGRATION.—A lawyer from a railroad town in the country, after reading our remarks of Saturday last on the naturalization question, confirmed from his own experience the truth of the statement that European emigration is not influenced by our shores by the privilege of citizenship. "He states that he has had numerous applications, professionally, from Irishmen inclined to acquire the right of suffrage. In three-fourths of these cases the object was abandoned, and that finally on learning that an incidental expense of three or four dollars was attached to the 'priceless boon.' It is a fact well known to those conversant with these matters that but the most inconsiderable number of Irish emigrants become naturalized, unless through the officious intervention of political agents, who thus purchase their votes. Our naturalization system is in practice but a machine for manufacturing voters to order for the exigencies of an election. In the residence of our legal friend above alluded to, and in other places where the court sits after instead of before the election, we are assured that very few foreigners are ever naturalized." —New York Courier.

CHEAPER PAPER.—The New Orleans Bulletin says: "We are inclined to believe that the okra plant of the south is destined to alleviate the grievous evil under which all publishers labor. We have seen specimens of strong, white rope manufactured from its fibre. If it will make rope it will certainly make paper, and if it will make paper, the present exorbitant prices must come down materially, for the supply of raw material will be as inexhaustible as cheap." If the Bulletin is correct in the opinion that the okra plant will furnish an article suitable for the manufacture of paper, it is hardly possible to overestimate the importance of the discovery. The Bulletin speaks of the okra as if it was exclusively of southern growth, and it is true that it is only generally cultivated in that region. But it is a hardy plant, and can be grown in perfection on Long Island. Besides, it is a capital article of food; and if it was profitable to cultivate it for the purpose indicated by the Bulletin, we should see it generally introduced as an ingredient in soups, &c. —Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

C. C. WASHBURN.—We learn that a large number of the leading republicans of Rock county, Wis., (in Eastman's district,) have recently made a call on C. C. Washburn, esq., of Mineral Point, to become the republican anti-Nebraska candidate for congress in that district at the approaching election. If our friends in that district want an honorable, true and substantial man in congress as their agent, who is not afraid to take his stand on right measures, and see that "justice be done, though the heavens fall," and represent their wants as though they were his own, let them elect C. C. Washburn to the above office, and they will have just such a man. He is right on the vital question of the day, and his election would do honor to Wisconsin. —Galena Gazette.

The remnant of the hull of the steamer Erie, burned thirteen years ago, has been raised and towed into Buffalo harbor. The Buffalo Republic says: "The engine and valves found on board had been previously removed. She is the hardest looking wreck we ever saw and can be of no use, unless it be for the iron that holds her together. Rumor says that some $1,500 in silver coin was found, besides a large quantity of gold, silver and copper in a melted state."

BROKE HIS NECK.—A young man going home from a party in Rochester, on Thursday evening last, was overtaken by a wagon filled with young people who invited him to take a ride with them, and as he mounted the wagon at the back end the horses started suddenly and threw him out. In falling he struck his head upon the solid road and broke his neck. His age was about sixteen years. We did not learn his name. —Racine Advocate.

COMENDABLE COUNTERFEIT.—We are gratified to be able to record an instance of unanimity, growing out of the late fire. Our Lilliputian friend, Gen. Gifford, having learned that Geo. H. Walker had been so unfortunate as to lose most of his clothes in the United States Hotel, with his usual polite consideration, addressed the colossal colonel a note, kindly tendering the use of his wardrobe. The proffered favor was duly appreciated, but "circumstances" or rather "inconveniences," prevented its acceptance. —Mil. News.

MONSIEUR TONSON ONCE MORE.—That universal acquaintance of good-natured hotel-keepers and money-lenders, Col. J. Abbot, is cutting a wide swath down in Maine, as an administration demagogue. He attends most of the conventions, and makes great speeches. The Portland Advertiser, which evidently has no appreciation of true eloquence, says of one of these efforts, that "it combined the eloquence of a fish-wife, with the gesticulation of a jumping jack."

ACCIDENTS IN MILWAUKEE.—On the day of the fire, a young man in Nazro's employ was very seriously injured by the falling of an anvil upon him. Another young man in the same employ was attacked with the cholera from over exertion and his life was despaired of. S. B. Davis, esq., of the firm of Davis & Moore, was knocked down by a hook and ladder company, and badly hurt—although we hope not fatally. Another young man by the name of Stone was struck and fell down where he was at work upon the roof, he was taken up and was recovering at last accounts. A great many were taken up and committed to jail for stealing. There were a large number drunk, and some tall club fighting came off, which would astonish denizens of any other city. It was a hard day for Milwaukee, and we hope none of their brave firemen or other citizens will suffer from sickness by over exertion. —Racine Advocate.

RESISTANCE TO LAW.—We have no sympathy with those who threaten to resist the execution of the laws; whether it be the fugitive slave law or the Maine liquor law. While any law remains upon the statute book, its provisions must be obeyed. We do not mean the citizen is under any obligation to volunteer his services to carry it into effect; but that he cannot be justified in offering open resistance to the law, and the officers who are bound to execute it. The citizen has a right to stand aside, and not let those whose business it is to execute the law, do their duty as best they may, without rendering any assistance. Nor has the officer any right to command the assistance of the citizen, unless he is present when there is actual violence or a breach of the peace. The citizen is under legal obligation to obey the mandate of the officer, only when resistance is offered. But as such cases would not occur in a thousand lifetimes, no man need give himself any particular uneasiness as to his duty in such particular cases.

We are in favor of resisting bad laws, but our mode of resistance is a peaceable one. We would fight our battles at the ballot box, with missiles both peaceable and potent. Our institutions are based on public sentiment, and whatever the public will, they can justly secure, if they proceed in a legal, constitutional way. We hear much said about resisting the fugitive slave law. Many of its provisions are justly odious, and ought to be modified; and these ends can be obtained without commotion and bloodshed. Let the people go to the polls and elect those who are in favor of a change, and the object would be at once attained. Instead of resisting the law in Court street or State street, it should be done at the places of public meeting. Instead of employing revolvers and dirks, all that is necessary is small pieces of paper with the proper inscription thereon.

The battle of freedom must be fought in the halls of congress. The places of holding meetings on the days of elections, are but mere recruiting stations. The people themselves are to select their soldiers, and decide who shall be entrusted with their sword and shield; and when that is done the agents so selected are to appear on the great battle field at Washington, where the whole matter is to be decided. Let them be careful that no traitor, no Arnold is entrusted with power, and the thing will be easily accomplished. Such is the resistance we recommend, such the remedy we would apply. —Boston Atlas.

MORAL SEASON ON A RAY.—When a friend of ours, whom we call Agricola, was a boy, he lived on a farm in Berkshire county, the owner of which was troubled by his dog Wolf. The cur killed his sheep, knowing perhaps that his master was conscientiously opposed to capital punishment, and he could devise no means to prevent it.

"I can break him of it," said Agricola, "if you will give me leave."

"Thou art permitted," said the honest farmer, and we will let Agricola tell the story in his own words.

"There was a ram on the farm," said Agricola, "as notorious for butting as Wolf was for sheep killing, and who stood in as much need of moral season as the dog. I shut Wolf up in the barn with this old fellow, and the consequence was, that the dog never looked a sheep in the face again. The ram broke every bone in his body, literally. Wonderfully uplifted was the ram afterwards, by his exploit; his insolence became intolerable; he was sure to pounce upon whomever went him. 'I'll fix him,' said I, and so I did; I rigged an iron crow-bar out of a hole in the barn, point foremost, and hung an old hat on the end of it. You can't always tell when you see a hat, whether there is a head in it or not, how then should a ram? The ram made at it full butt, and being a good marksman from long practice, the bar broke in between his horns, and came out under his tail. This little admonition effectually cured him of butting."

WELL SPOKEN.—The Editor of the Watertown Register, in a pointed article on the justice done local papers by those most interested in their proper maintenance, properly remarks: "Another evil to the success of the country press is the fashion some people have of sending east for reading matter, entirely neglecting their local papers. If a man gets a paper as large as the side of a house at a dollar a year, he in many cases thinks it preferable to his own home paper, even if it is filled with stale speeches, legislative reports of other states, and all the dull, uninteresting stuff to be found in most of the eastern papers. This does the local printer rank injustice. They embark their labor and capital in the enterprise of building up our towns, counties, and state, and every man in the community receives benefit from their labors. The press of this state have done more to enhance the value of property in this state generally than any other agent; and we will venture the assertion that there are no services in the community so poorly paid for as those rendered by the publishers of newspapers. We know most of them personally, and with one or two exceptions, they possess hearts and souls, for benevolent and noble deeds, large enough to make their owners rich, were their generous efforts adequately rewarded by the people whom they serve."

HUNKER PHILOSOPHY.—The Wisconsin in an article concerning the appropriation of seventy millions by the last congress, consoles itself with the idea that they cannot spend any more during the short session. It is gratifying to know that congress will "be relieved at the short session of the trouble and embarrassment of appropriations," for the benefit of our rivers and harbors, &c. What say the people on our lake shores, that thrive by the commerce of our lakes, was the $10,000,000 appropriated by congress and pocketed by Santa Anna of more benefit to us than the appropriation of half that sum for the protection of western commerce would have been? —Racine Advocate.
